CHANDIGARH COLLEGE OF ARCHITECTURE, CHANDIGARH.

PREAMBLE

Chandigarh – the most daring experiment in modern urbanism has just become the Mecca of architects from all over the world. Chandigarh's pre-eminence as an 'International City' rests largely on the world renowned architect – Le Corbusier, who developed the master plan in 1951, based on his urban planning theories and the masterly architectural works. What is not so well-known is the fact that the 20th century's greatest architect succeeded in getting Chandigarh College of Architecture established as an integral part of great Chandigarh Experiment. His conviction was that the creation of built environment, however brilliant and consequential cannot be fully grasped – much less perpetuated- if the principles regulating the concept are not properly understood through study of various components of the city in use. The raison d'être of CCA demands that this unique institution should develop its native potential and the ability to inspire, support, sustain and continue academic programmes whereby professionals-trained in the tradition of modern urbanism could be enabled to extend the frontiers of creativity – efficiently, comprehensively and beautifully.

INCEPTION AND BRIEF HISTORY

Chandigarh College of Architecture (CCA) was established on 7th August 1961 and was set up as a part of the great "Chandigarh Experiment" to impart education in Architecture.

The college conducts a five-year course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Architecture (B.Arch.) for which it is affiliated to the Panjab University in the Faculty of Design and Fine Arts. Chandigarh College of Architecture is a premier architectural institution of the entire north-western region covering the States of Punjab, Haryana, Himachal Pradesh, Jammu & Kashmir, Rajasthan as well as the Union Territory of Chandigarh. A large number of the alumni of this college are now doing extremely well professionally whether it be in practice, the government and public sector undertakings, teaching or research. The college is located in the educational zone of the city next to the Punjab Engineering College in Sector 12.

ACADEMIC IDEOLOGY & BROAD OBJECTIVES OF THE COURSE

We believe that architecture, the Great Mother Art, is an ambient social art and it seeks to render comprehensive service to mankind by meeting the complex challenges of contemporary life.

In the light of the profession's new role we train our students by exposing them to live problems, situations and circumstances. Teaching through the course of five years, is based on an inter disciplinary approach which in addition to classroom learning through lectures, slide-talks, discussions, assignments, comprehension tests, etc. entails numerous site visits and on-the-spot studies. Students are encouraged to make their own observations of the facts, to analyse and to evaluate them so that they may learn to reckon the relevance and applicability of investigative studies to the programme requirements of creative e coursework in architectural design. The major objective of our B. Architecture Course is to train professionals capable of working efficiently both in the practical field as well as in the academic and development of creative thinking the skills, familiarization with evolution and philosophy of architecture as well as theoretical and practical knowledge of the technical and constructional aspects of building. The large number of electives introduced in 4th and 5th year of the course help to create awareness of the numerous areas and opportunities for diversification/specialization after completing the under graduate course.

The college has a well-qualified and experienced faculty duly reinforced by visiting faculty of eminent professionals drawn from the field in the disciplines of architecture, planning, urban design, engineering, humanities, etc.

COURSE STRUCTURE

The Bachelor of Architecture programme has a two tier break-up, with the first tier comprising six semesters and the second tier four semesters, making it a ten-semester degree course. The first tier culminates in a degree titled "Bachelor of Building Science". The emphasis here is on giving adequate practice in the basic skills viz. architectural drafting, technical detailing, graphics, structures and creative expression, for comprehensive architectural design. It is expected that a student, on completion of this stage, would be competent in assisting a qualified architect in running an architectural practice. It is also a foundation for the second tier leading to more advanced courses for the Bachelor's Degree in Architecture. After the first tier, the students are required to undergo a semester's duration of Practical Training in an established architectural practice to acquaint them with realities of the field/profession. The course culminates in a research-cum-design thesis in the tenth semester when students are required to undertake a thesis-project, conduct research on its various aspects and apply the conclusions for evolving design solutions.

SPECIAL LECTURES, WORKSHOPS AND SEMINARS

To support our academic programmes workshops, seminars, and special lectures in various areas are organized from time to time by inviting eminent professionals in the respective field. An art studio has also been established under the supervision of Lecture-in-Art. Besides this, the college has two regular annual events in the form of 'Archo' – a cultural week held in March every year and the 'Le Corbusier Day' in October every year dedicated to academic and professional introspection through seminars and lectures.

EDUCATIONAL TOURS

Educational tours to different places of architectural interest are necessary for comprehensive architectural education. Tours and site visits are organized with a view to expose the students to India's rich cultural heritage, besides giving them an opportunity to study examples of significant modern architecture at first hand.
